At the start of the 15th Five-Year Plan period, Yantai has set a clear goal of building itself into a demonstration city for green, low-carbon, high-quality development. This new positioning brings both opportunities and challenges, calling for more decisive action. The cityâ??s proactive and pragmatic approach to attracting investment was evident at the event, where it unveiled a cooperation initiative with multinational corporations and showcased the city, key industrial parks and leading enterprises.

Government representatives from multiple counties and districts gathered on-site for one-on-one industry matchmaking, seeking new partners and cooperation opportunities. At the event site, eight projects were signed in a collective ceremony, covering key sectors such as intelligent manufacturing, finance, logistics, and foreign trade.
