Under the theme â??@Sunon @AI @Nature,â?• the global workplace solutions brand showcases circular material innovation and new perspectives on the future of work.

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct. 26, 2026 /PRNewswire/ â?? SUNON, an international office furniture and workplace solutions brand, will present its latest workplace concepts at ORGATEC 2026, taking place October 27â??30 in Cologne, Germany. Guided by the theme â??@Sunon @AI @Nature,â?• SUNON explores how artificial intelligence, nature-inspired thinking and human-centered design can contribute to more adaptable and inspiring workplace environments.

As workplace expectations evolve, organizations are looking beyond individual furniture products toward integrated environments that support focused work, collaboration and changing work patterns. At ORGATEC 2026, SUNON brings together product innovation, material exploration and workplace design to demonstrate its approach to these evolving needs.

A key highlight of this yearâ??s exhibition is a conceptual chair made from over 85% recycled materials sourced from discarded furniture. The project explores how materials from used furniture can be reintroduced into product development through design, offering a tangible example of circular thinking in workplace furniture. It also reflects SUNONâ??s ongoing exploration of material innovation and more sustainable approaches to product design.

Alongside this material initiative, SUNON presents its perspective on the relationship between intelligent technology and the future of work. As AI continues to influence how people interact with information and their working environments, SUNON sees opportunities to connect technological innovation with practical workplace needs. The focus remains on creating environments that support people through thoughtful design, flexibility and coordinated furniture solutions.
