SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11, 2026 /PRNewswire/ â?? On January 11, ahead of J.P. Morgan 2026, the BIOSeedin Winter Innovation Partnering Summit convened in San Francisco. ACROBiosystems, a key strategic partner, joined hands with various enterprises to participate.

Centered on â??Global Matching of Innovative Assetsâ?•, the summit gathered multinational pharma, investors and biotech firms to explore licensing opportunities and globalization strategies. Over 500 delegates discussed vividly to boost extensive collaboration, with the event sponsored by Lilly, Roche and Fangda Partners.

Against the backdrop of â??capital + collaborationâ?• in global medical innovation, ACROBiosystems upheld its brand proposition â??Connecting the world, your partner from discovery to the clinicâ?• to link resources, facilitate partnerships and empower global innovation. Aligned with this vision, it delivers reliable quality and considerate service.

ACROBiosystems set up a networking lounge for in-depth talks with global pharma and biotech pioneers. Discussions focused on global expansion of locally-developed drugs, covering license-in/out, clinical development and market access for efficient resource alignment.

Industry Spotlight: Global Strategies and Local Innovations

Oncology Session:

Panelists noted Chinaâ??s unique strengths in clinical speed, platform iteration and portfolio strategy, predicting globally competitive ADC, TCE and novel cell/gene therapy innovations in the coming years.
