A New Partnership Reinforcing Operational Stability, Flexibility, and Agility Across the ECBâ??s Digital Landscape

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 31, 2026 /PRNewswire/ â?? As announced in the contract award notice (https://ted.europa.eu/en/notice/-/detail/822463-2025), the European Central Bank (ECB) has concluded a single framework agreement with DXC Technology Deutschland GmbH, a leading enterprise technology and innovation partner for the provision of end user computing and IT infrastructure managed services. Delivered exclusively from DXCâ??s European Economic Area (EEA) delivery centers, the framework agreement with an initial duration of 5 year and maximum duration of 8 years will support the ECB in maintaining stable, scalable and modern IT operations.

DXC Technology Deutschland GmbH will take over the operations, maintenance, and support of some IT services. The ECB will retain full ownership of all IT assets and continue hosting its IT services in secure datacenters, fully aligned with its governance and security framework.

â??DXCâ??s solution aligns with the ECBâ??s vision and draws on our proven capabilities in regulated environments,â?• said Juan Parra, President, Europe, DXC Technology. â??The ECB plays a vital role in maintaining price stability and safeguarding Europeâ??s financial system. DXC is proud to support that mission, through its wide technological expertise and offering.
