COMUNICATO STAMPA â?? CONTENUTO PROMOZIONALE

CHICAGO, Sept. 23, 2026 /PRNewswire/ â?? May River Capital today announced that its portfolio company Dickson has been acquired by Copeland, a portfolio company of Blackstone. Copeland is a global leader in compression technologies and controls solutions, with over 100 years of expertise and approximately 18,000 colleagues across more than 40 countries.

May River acquired Dickson in April 2018. Since then, May River and Dicksonâ??s management team have transformed the business from a family-owned, single-site operation into a global environmental monitoring platform serving customers in more than 50 countries from its operations in Addison, Illinois, Montpellier, France and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. The team strengthened Dicksonâ??s commercial capabilities, invested in next-generation sensing and cloud-based monitoring solutions, and positioned the business to serve highly regulated life sciences and pharmaceutical applications. The successful take-private acquisition of Oceasoft, a publicly traded French environmental monitoring company, further expanded the Companyâ??s technology portfolio and international presence.

Rick Weiler, President and CEO of Dickson, commented, â??With May Riverâ??s support, we have invested in our people and expanded our product and technology capabilities, enhancing Dicksonâ??s ability to support the critical environmental monitoring needs of life sciences customers around the world. Joining Copeland marks an exciting next chapter for Dickson, and we look forward to the opportunities ahead within its broader global platform.â?•

Steve Griesemer, Partner at May River Capital, commented, â??Rick and the Dickson team have been outstanding partners, and the strength of the organization today is a testament to their leadership and dedication. Through our partnership with management, we have transformed Dickson into a global leader in its industry and positioned it for further growth. We believe Copeland is an ideal partner for Dicksonâ??s next chapter and will help the Company extend its capabilities to an even broader customer base.â?•
