COMUNICATO STAMPA - CONTENUTO PROMOZIONALE

SHENZHEN, China, April 27, 2026 /PRNewswire/ - Speediance, a leader in smart fitness innovation, is partnering with Smartech in a strategic retail collaboration, marking a major milestone in expanding the brand's global offline presence.

Key highlights:

Located within leading department stores and high-traffic flagship destinations, these installations invite consumers, partners, and media who have seen Speediance online to now touch, feel, and own the future of smart fitness in person. At the center of the experience is Gym Monster 2s, a strength training system that combines digital resistance, intelligent coaching, and connected fitness content, offering a structured and adaptive approach to smart home fitness.

"Smartech has created a retail environment where technology is meant to be experienced, not just displayed. Bringing Gym Monster 2s into this context allows us to connect with users who value innovation, while strengthening how we integrate offline experience into our global retail strategy," said Tao Liu, Founder and CEO of Speediance. "Through this partnership, we are connecting digital access with offline interaction to support users across every stage of their fitness and holistic health management."

The partnership supports Speediance's retail expansion across key international markets and reflects the brand's commitment to making smart fitness more accessible and more closely connected to how people train and live.
