COMUNICATO STAMPA • CONTENUTO PROMOZIONALE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16, 2026 /PRNewswire/ • TRG, a portfolio company of Gemspring Capital and a global managed services provider focused on the full lifecycle of enterprise endpoints, announced today that it has acquired Vista Technology Support (•Vista•), a specialist provider of technology field services and support across the UK and Ireland. The acquisition expands TRG's field services and help desk capabilities in Europe, strengthening the endpoint lifecycle services the company delivers across the region. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Vista provides technology field services and support to customer-facing businesses across the retail, hospitality, leisure, and healthcare sectors. Its capabilities span installation and deployment, preventative maintenance, responsive break-fix engineering, service desk support, and IT procurement. Vista employs more than 400 people, including field service engineers, service desk specialists, staging technicians, and project managers across the UK and Ireland.

•Vista is a market leader with a strong service model, deep technical expertise, and longstanding customer relationships,• said Sean Kennedy, Founder and CEO of TRG. •The acquisition expands our field services capabilities in Europe and strengthens our ability to procure, deploy, maintain, repair, and support enterprise endpoints wherever our customers operate.•

•Vista is a valuable addition to our European business,• said Kevan Mutton, Managing Director of TRG Europe. •The team brings deep field services expertise that expands our footprint across the UK and Ireland and strengthens our ability to serve customers across Europe.•

•We have built a strong business over three decades, and joining TRG is an exciting next step,• said James Pepper, Chief Executive Officer of Vista. •We will continue delivering the field services and 24/7 support our customers rely on every day for their mission-critical technologies, now backed by TRG's global platform and resources.•
