Wireless CarPlay, Android Auto, and IP69K waterproofing • now for any bike

SHENZHEN, China, April 16, 2026 /PRNewswire/ • RiderNav today announced the presale launch of the R7X, a universal 7-inch smart motorcycle display compatible with Harley-Davidson, Honda, Yamaha, Kawasaki, KTM, Triumph, Suzuki, and virtually every other motorcycle on the market. The R7X is now available at ridernav.com at a retail price of $559.00. As a special presale offer, the first 100 orders will receive an automatic 20% discount, bringing the price down to just $350.00.

• The R7M proved that riders want a serious, purpose-built display • not a phone taped to the handlebars, • said the RiderNav team. • The R7X makes that available to everyone else. Same display. Same durability. Built for any bike. •

Key Features

7" HD IPS Display, 1,200 Nits • Optically bonded for crisp, glare-free visibility in direct sunlight and all-weather riding conditions.

Wireless Apple CarPlay & Android Auto • Navigation, music, calls, and messages • all wire-free. Everything the rider needs is on-screen; the phone stays in the pocket.

Universal Quick-Release Mount • Installs and removes in seconds. Compatible with 99% of standard motorcycle bracket systems.

Action Camera Control • Controls DJI, Insta360, and GoPro directly from the display. Start and stop recording with a single tap • no fumbling for buttons mid-ride.

Tire Pressure Monitoring (TPMS) â?? Optional â?? Add RiderNavâ??s TPMS module to view real-time tire pressure directly on screen.

IP69K Waterproof & Dust-Tight â?? Built to withstand high-pressure water jets, mud, and temperatures from -20Â°C to 70Â°C.

OTA Updates â?? Ongoing firmware and feature updates delivered automatically over the air.

Pricing & Availability

The R7X has a standard retail price of $559.00. As a special launch offer, the first 100 orders can enjoy a launch price of just $350.00. Every unit includes a 24-month manufacturerâ??s warranty and free shipping.

Presale is live now at <https://www.ridernav.com/products/r7x>.

About RiderNav

RiderNav designs smart display systems for motorcycle riders who demand more from their technology. Building on the success of the R7M â?? the first display purpose-built for BMWâ??s Nav Cradle â?? the R7X extends that same engineering philosophy to riders on any bike. RiderNav products carry CE, FCC, and TELEC certifications and are sold globally.
