About Hyperliquid

Hyperliquid is a blockchain built for fast and efficient trading without intermediaries. It is specifically tailored for derivatives trading and designed to offer a user experience similar to traditional crypto exchanges, but directly on the blockchain. The native crypto asset HYPE is used within the ecosystem for several functions, including paying fees, participating in governance, and creating incentives for liquidity and activity on the platform.

Christopher Kock, CEO of Virtune:

â??We are delighted to expand our offering on the Warsaw Stock Exchange with the Virtune Hyperliquid ETP. Hyperliquid is a decentralized trading platform built to enable global, round-the-clock trading across a growing range of assets. HYPE is the platformâ??s own digital token and sits at the centre of its ecosystem. One of its distinguishing features is that part of the trading fees generated on the platform is used to purchase HYPE and permanently remove it from circulation. We believe this combination of growing platform activity and a well-designed economic model makes the Virtune Hyperliquid ETP a timely addition to our offering for Polish investors.â?•

Tomasz WrÃ³bel, Country Manager for Poland at Virtune, adds:

â??This marks the eighth crypto-asset-based product on the Warsaw Stock Exchange (GPW) and our second debut this September, following the Chainlink ETP launched on September 3, 2026. Despite the subdued sentiment surrounding cryptocurrencies, Virtune is not slowing down. We aim to enhance the offerings of brokerage houses and appeal to investors who are wary of using crypto exchanges directly. Investing via products listed on the stock exchange can mitigate such risks, and the range of available products is highly attractive today. Given its global popularity and trading volume, the crypto-asset market simply cannot be ignored.â?•
